The all-new 2011 Toyota Prius has once again set new standards for innovative hybrid design and technology, raising its level of convenience features and performance to new heights, including a combined EPA estimated fuel efficiency rating of 50 miles per gallon.

Credited with establishing hybrid technology as a foundation for future vehicles, the three generations of the Prius model have delivered superior fuel economy and ultra-low emissions for more than 1.3 million owners worldwide for more than 10 years.

The midsize third-generation 2011 Prius offers even better mileage ratings, enhanced performance, and innovative design features. The patented Hybrid Synergy Drive system in the 2011 Prius is 90-percent newly developed, with significant improvements over previous models.

The third-generation Prius is quieter and roomier than previous models, as well.

Drawing to be held at the Evening of Aloha gala dinner on Saturday, November 13, 2010 at the Hilton Anaheim Hotel. Winner need not be present.
